TIMES-DISPATCH VS. NEWS LEADER

The Times-Dispatch-News Leader game to-morrow at Byrd Park is expected to draw a large crowd of spectators. The game will be called at 4:30 P. M.

Up to date the Times-Dispatch boys have not lost a game, and although they lead the league, they must keep their eyes open in the next two games.

Manager Sherer, of The Times-Dispatch team, said last night that he had no fear of being defeated in Monday's contest.

The Eighth Streeters defeated The Times-Dispatch boys in an exhibition game, but as this does not count in the race for the flag, The Times-Dispatch lads do not worry.

YOUNG O'BRIEN LOSES TO WELCH

Vancouver, B. C., July 19.—Young Jack O'Brien, of Philadelphia, was out-pointed to-day by Freddie Welch, the British lightweight champion, in fifteen rounds. O'Brien put up a great fight, but his opponent was too sturdy and rugged for him. The Philadelphia boys need some cleverness, especially the spectators for the first few rounds of the end, however, Welch was clearly the heavier of the two.

"DYNAMITE" JORDAN

He will wrestle Young Olson at the ball park Tuesday night, the winner to get another chance at Joe Turner.

McGill Catholic Union Baseball Team

though he made no statement, it is a cinch that Griffin would have been willing to call it off. It was ill-advised, to say the least, but it has established the fact that, regardless of the lives of the players, games will be played here under any conditions. If just one or two boys yell loud enough.

The first game was clinched by the Colts in the third inning, when a single by Riley and a triple by Newton, helped by a sacrifice hit by Kirby, scored two runs. One had been scored in the first. Laval hit safely and Dye, in trying to stop him at second, threw wild to Schrader, which allowed the third run to score. Kirby's sacrifice brought forth a knock through the middle of the diamond and the run counted.

It took three hits for Norfolk to score the only run added to the visitors. Stewart, Blauser and Staub allowed each other with bingles, and Stewart was over on the third knock. Doc Ayers, while not in as good form as in previous occasions, still held the bat here in every other out. He hit safely six times and struck out nine, maintaining his average of strike-outs per game.

Richmond led a trio of tallies in the seventh just by way of showing their contempt for Kirby's tribe. Connie Bresnahan led with a three-way wham to left field, and Jay Rogers came through with a single to the same part of the garden, when Connie romped home. Ayers produced a neat bunt, advancing Jay, and Bill Laval banged into left center for his triple. Bill scored when Stewart let a throw from the pitcher get away from him. A total of six runs to one was enough, and the Griffins laid by their oars after the seventh.

The story of the second has already been briefly told. Throughout the first half hour the contest was a draw. The game would be completed, and when activity in the vicinity of the players' bench told that the second was to be attempted few could believe it. Strain and men were the opponents in the second, Stewart, the first up, hit by Ducky Eberts and scored before the ball could be relayed to the diamond. Rain was falling fast, and it was hard to judge the ball and equally as hard to throw it perfectly after judgment. Newton, also leading off in Richmond's half of the second, duplicated Stewart's slam and tied the game. It was then that Kelly stopped play, only to call the game off after he required thirty minutes had elapsed.

It was actually farcical, and would have produced laughs, but that the thinking realized that lives were being put up as pawns in a game of wits, what was alleged to be the desire of a majority of the crowd to witness another game.

DOWN THE ALLEYS

The bowling in the Forest Hill alleys last week was of a very high order, and many changes were made in the standing for both individuals and teams. The women bowlers in particular, put up a game right and took their defeat in a most graceful manner. Captain Lowery was badly handicapped in this series, as he was short two of his strongest players, and this practically accounts for the defeat at the hands of the Athletics.
